Career Objective

Electronics Technician Traineeship where my long-held interest in electronics and IT and my commitment to doing my best together with eagerness to be a useful member of the team will help ensure effective and efficient maintenance of electronic scientific equipment both ashore and at sea.

The variety of research carried out by Quadrant Navigation and the range of equipment used offer a career path full of challenge and interest. I would be keen to be a part of your team.

Employment History

Salesman, New Cars / Cadetship Bay Motors, July-November 2010

This was a new position involving both sales work and learning different aspects of the business through assisting others. The position was terminated due to the recent slump in new vehicle sales.
